

ANGELINE WANJIRU

WHY I WAS CREATED

FINALLY AM FOUND

Contents

- Part 1: The Question of Purpose ..... 2
- Part 2: The Source of Existence..... 2
- Part 3: God's Omniscience and Our Origin ..... 2
- Part 4: Your Unique Purpose ..... 3
- Part 5: Humanity's Rebellion and Redemption ..... 3
- Part 6: God's Love and Mercy ..... 3
- Part 7: The Gift of Salvation ..... 4
- Part 8: Living a Life of Repentance and Renewal ..... 5
- Part 9: The Holy Spirit as Our Guide ..... 5
- Part 10: Lessons from Judas..... 7
- Part 11: Embracing Divine Grace..... 7
- Part 12: Aligning with God's Will..... 8
- Part 13: Navigating Life's Challenges..... 9
- Part 14: Achieving Success and Finding Purpose ..... 10
- Part 15: God's Provision and Our True Purpose..... 11
- Part 16: A Unique and Personal Journey..... 12
- Part 17: Overcoming Negative Influences..... 13
- Part 18: The Joy in Doing What You Love..... 14
- Part 19: Eliminating Worry and Negative Emotions..... 15
- Verses for Reference ..... 17

Part 1: The Question of Purpose

May I ask what was the purpose behind my creation?

Perceptions of this question vary among individuals. Some might argue that it pertains to religious people, others may dismiss it as a concern for the ignorant, and some may be indifferent. However, some will contemplate it.

As stated on our website <https://finallyamfound.com>, we welcome everyone on board, while upholding our Christ-like core values without endorsing any specific religion.

Part 2: The Source of Existence

The ultimate first cause of existence is God. This is because everything that begins to exist has a cause, and so the universe must have a cause. God has invisible qualities, both His Eternal power and His divine nature.

God decided to create human beings after creating the whole universe, who He decided would be like Him and resemble Him (His character is power and love, that is His image). He gave them this power and love to bring the earth (which He has created) under control. This was a significant responsibility, as it required them to exercise stewardship over the natural world and care for it as God would. You are the only creature that He gave His own breath, and the only thing remaining was to ask for wisdom which He gives generously without finding fault.

Part 3: God's Omniscience and Our Origin

As an omniscient being, God knew each of us before we were even formed in our mother's womb. He is the Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. He wants you to be happy and productive under Him.

Now that you know your origin and the sole purpose of your existence, let us break it into bits. God Himself loves us unconditionally, and so He wants us to do the same to fellow human beings. He also wants us to exercise the power He created in us to manage His earth under Him. So, His love and power go hand in hand, which means you don't exercise power at the cost of your fellow man.

Part 4: Your Unique Purpose

You have a unique purpose in life, given to you by God. You are an essential piece of the puzzle in God's grand plan, with a specific role to play in the tapestry of life. Your contributions, no matter how significant or insignificant they may seem, are crucial to the divine design. Align yourself with God's power and love, and use His blessings to innovate and make the world a better place. You have all the resources you need to make a difference. Share your love with others and uplift them. Cultivate your relationship with God, the source of all good, and other relationships will follow the pattern. You are here for a reason; embrace your purpose with love and humility. The Earth is resourceful and has a vast land, animals, plants, water, seasons, light, darkness, and fellow beings. That is to say, the Earth is a truly amazing place, full of beauty, diversity, and endless opportunity for exploration and discovery.

Part 5: Humanity's Rebellion and Redemption

It appears that even though humanity was created in the image of God, they tainted the magnificence of His glory in various ways. Humans deliberately and unintentionally rebelled against God, disregarded His power, rejected Him, and worshipped His creations rather than the Creator. As time passed, they distanced themselves from Him, abused their power, and fostered animosity. As a result, it became increasingly challenging for anyone to live a purposeful life and remain steadfast in God's power and love. Amid this turmoil, however, a glimmer of hope remained. Despite humanity's transgressions, God's love and mercy never wavered. He continued to reach out, offering redemption and forgiveness to those who sought it. The path to reconciliation was open to all, a beacon of light in the darkness of sin and despair. Animal sacrifices were made every other day, and sin's consequences were severe. It was a journey fraught with challenges and temptations, but the reward was eternal and unending for those who chose to walk it.

Part 6: God's Love and Mercy

As individuals grappled with their inner conflicts and external pressures, the whispers of divine grace persisted, gently nudging them toward repentance and renewal. The stories of those who turned back to God, humbled and contrite, echoed through the ages, serving as a testament to the enduring power of faith and the boundless depths of God's love, while others followed detours that led them astray. Throughout human history, people have faced both good times and bad. But even in the toughest moments, many have found comfort in the idea that a higher power was looking out for them. This belief has given hope and strength to those who needed it most. The thread of divine intervention has always been there, unbroken, to guide those seeking solace and salvation. And so, the saga of humanity's redemption continued, a narrative of second chances and spiritual awakening, beckoning all to embrace the light of divine guidance and the promise of eternal grace.

God's mercy and love never change because He wants everyone to find a way to Him and, more so, to trust Him, for He said He doesn't want to lose anyone. Therefore, God had given us another chance to know Him better, identify with Him more profoundly, and find our purpose through the gift He sent to us. He sent His begotten Son, Jesus Christ, who left heaven to become a man for us so that we could see Him, touch Him, and comprehend God better. Through Jesus Christ, God has graciously provided us with a renewed opportunity to enhance our spiritual connection with Him and hence have a purposeful and productive life. As believers, we believe that Jesus embodies the essence of God's love, grace, and mercy. He is the manifestation of God's love for humanity. Through His teachings, we learn how to live a productive and righteous life. Jesus's teachings, as documented in the Bible, provide practical guidance on how to navigate life's challenges while remaining true to God's will.

Part 7: The Gift of Salvation

Accepting Jesus Christ is a choice that every individual is free to make. It is not something that can be forced upon anyone. However, those who choose to accept Jesus receive the invaluable gift of salvation. This gift is available to everyone who believes in Him and has faith in who He is. We should strive to be like Him by loving one another, forgiving, and showing compassion and kindness toward all. These actions have a compounded effect on both self and society as a whole. Through our actions, we can serve as a reflection of Christ's love for the world and thus find joy and satisfaction.

The climax of the "second chance" was Jesus's own sacrifice for the human race. It's crucial to remember that Jesus's ultimate sacrifice on the cross lays the foundation of our faith and a better way of life. Through His death and resurrection, we are given new life and hope, and we are provided with a helper - the Holy Spirit - to navigate life's challenges and joys. These are assets that we need in our daily living to accomplish all that is required of us. He exchanged our sins and guilt for freedom and righteousness; He conquered, so He is the way, the truth, the light, and the life. As we go through life, let us always remember the teachings of Christ and the love He has for us. This means that we should not keep our values hidden but be willing to live them openly, thus protecting and not compromising our purpose.

Part 8: Living a Life of Repentance and Renewal

We are called to live a life of repentance and renewal, constantly seeking to know God better and reflect His love and grace to others. Through prayer, scripture reading, and fellowship with other believers, we can strengthen our faith and resist the temptations of the world. Let us embrace the gift of salvation with gratitude and humility, knowing that we are loved unconditionally by our Heavenly Father. May we strive to live a life worthy of the calling we have received, shining as lights in a dark world, and sharing the hope we have in Christ with all those around us.

May we always remember that salvation is a gift freely given to us, not something we can earn through our own efforts. Let us walk in gratitude and obedience, trusting in God's plan for our lives and relying on His strength to overcome any challenges we may face. As we journey toward eternity, may we hold fast to our faith and never waver in our commitment to follow Christ wholeheartedly. Let us be beacons of hope and love in a world that desperately needs the light of Jesus, whom we carry every day and who never discriminates.

Part 9: The Holy Spirit as Our Guide

As we previously mentioned, Christ bestowed upon us a helper in the form of the Holy Spirit, whose purpose is to guide us through life. However, it requires a conscious effort to cultivate this mindset within ourselves. But once achieved, we can fulfill our purpose through His guidance and discernment. The Holy Spirit bears fruits of love, peace, joy, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, humility, and self-discipline in us. These qualities grow in us daily as we seek to fulfill our purpose in life.

As believers in Christ, we are made sons and daughters of God, with Him as our Father, and we are His rightful heirs. This means that we have a special relationship with our heavenly Father, which is far superior to any relationship we could have with our earthly father. Although our earthly fathers may be good to us, they are limited by their human nature. Our heavenly Father, on the other hand, loves us unconditionally, is powerful, mighty, and wealthy in all aspects. This relationship is highly advantageous for us, and we should be grateful for the privilege of being called sons and daughters of God.

To help you understand this concept, let me provide an example. Imagine the son of a president. You wouldn't expect him to live recklessly or reside in a rundown house. Instead, he would be found in appropriate settings, engaging in productive activities, enjoying the wealth provided by his father, walking with confidence, purposefully striving to achieve his highest aspirations, because his father can afford it, and the resources are at his disposal to use prudently. The president's son has faith in his father's authority. Now, consider your heavenly Father, who is more than a president. How should you approach your relationship with Him? You should relate to Him with reverence, gratitude, and trust. Just like the president's son, you should walk in confidence, knowing that you are a child of the loving Almighty Father. You should seek His guidance, protection, and provision in all aspects of your life, because He lacks nothing. Embrace your identity as a beloved child of God who carries power within, and live in the fullness of the blessings He has in store for you. Live in true identity as sons and daughters of God, walk in the confidence and assurance that comes from being heirs of His kingdom, trust in His power and provision, knowing that He will always guide us and protect us. Embrace the love of your heavenly Father and trust Him, and live a life filled with His blessings and favor. When you go astray, go and ask for forgiveness, which He gives unconditionally, and never carry your mistakes, so don't carry guilt, but instead work on becoming better.

Part 10: Lessons from Judas

Remember Judas, who betrayed Jesus? His greatest sin was not betrayal, because Peter had also betrayed Jesus by denouncing Him many times. Judas's greatest sin was not trusting in the forgiving mercy of God. He was unable to discern the evil that was eating him up, and he believed that God could no longer forgive him. As a result, he got depressed because of guilt and took his life, never giving himself a chance to understand why he was created and never being productive on earth, thus losing his eternal life. May we learn from Judas's tragic mistake and always trust in the forgiving mercy of God given to us through Jesus Christ, no matter how deep our sins may seem. When forgiven, don't carry the guilt anymore. Let us seek guidance, redemption, and purpose, knowing that through faith and repentance, we can find peace, productivity, and ultimately, salvation for our souls—the ultimate purpose.

Part 11: Embracing Divine Grace

Remember, my friend, that the incredible sacrifice of Christ made us right with God. Our sins deserved punishment, but God's love was so great that He sent His own Son to take the punishment for us. This one sacrifice was enough to make all the frequent animal sacrifices null and void for those who choose His way. Through Christ, we can experience the wealth of God's love and grace, and He can take away our sins and guilt so that we are free to fulfill our God-given purpose in the world. By choosing Him, we can destroy the foundations of evil created by ignorance and hate, and through Him, we can be transformed. When we believe in Him, we can discover our true identity and live a meaningful life. Let us not take it for granted, for it wasn't in vain that He offered Himself as a sacrifice.

Let us wholeheartedly embrace the divine grace that showers upon us and allow the light of Christ to illuminate our path and guide us towards truth and righteousness. Let us also extend His boundless love and compassion to others, so that they too may bask in the radiance of His divine presence. As we embark on our journey, let us seek His divine wisdom and guidance in all our endeavors, knowing that He alone can provide us with the clarity and insight that we need. Let us trust in His divine plan for our lives, and take comfort in the fact that He is always by our side, ready to lead us toward our ultimate destiny.

The Holy Spirit, allowed in us through Christ's sacrifice, is undoubtedly comparable to a daily compass, GPS, speed controller, and beam light. It also plays the role of a speed governor for those who believe and commit themselves to daily transformation. The Holy Spirit guides us in the right direction, helping us navigate through life's challenges and uncertainties. Just as a compass point north, the Spirit leads us toward truth, love, and righteousness. It keeps us on track, preventing us from straying off course or getting lost in the distractions of the world. Through His inspirations, gentle nudges, and whispers, we are reminded of our purpose and called to walk in the footsteps of Christ. Let us embrace the Holy Spirit as our divine GPS, guiding us toward our ultimate destination of eternal life in God's kingdom.

Part 12: Aligning with God's Will

The world is wild by default—naturally chaotic and can be difficult to navigate, especially when we rely solely on our human nature or worshiping His creation. To find true guidance, we should submit to the One who created the universe and us, as He has the full manual of His creation, provided through Jesus Christ. We all desire success, recognition, and achievement in life; it is part of our human nature. We strive for beautiful things, such as complete families, big houses, luxury cars, educational degrees, expensive vacations, designer clothes, and financial wealth. We want to be leaders, famous, and own big businesses. We desire comfort and to lack nothing. But is this our sole purpose in life? Are these signs that we are living a purposeful life? Is having all of these things the definition of true wealth?

True wealth is reflected in the richness of our souls, in the depth of our compassion, and in our willingness to share our blessings with those in need. You can be physically or materially poor, but very rich in intangibles. Just look at how some of those with disabilities can inspire us with their contentment. It's almost as if they have unlocked the secret to true contentment, finding richness in the simplicity of existence. Their joy emanates from a deep well within, untouched by the superficial trappings of the material world. In their resilience and acceptance, lies a profound lesson for us all—to cherish the intangible treasures that truly enrich our lives. Being materially poor doesn't mean you're lacking in richness. Intangible qualities can provide a wealth of happiness and peace. It is the quality of life that matters, not the amount of material wealth or the length of life.

It's worth noting that God doesn't want us to be 'poor' or lead a miserable life. He is the source of all wealth and wisdom, and as such, wants us to have a happy and fulfilling life. This means that we should use the resources that God has blessed us with (already available to us) to improve our lives and the lives of those around us. However, it's crucial not to become obsessed with material wealth and lose sight of our true purpose in life. Our ultimate goal should be to serve God and to use our wealth and resources to help others and make the world a better place.

Part 13: Navigating Life's Challenges

Let us strive to align our desires with God's will, seek His guidance in all that we do, and live a meaningful life in His eyes. When we have the love of Christ within us and show love towards others, everything falls into place, including our purpose. While tangible wealth is good, the wealth of the heart is more fulfilling and has no time limit. It cannot be stolen, burned, or lost, and it does not cause sleepless nights. Inner wealth is pure and effortless, not forced. It flows out of us naturally and abundantly to others.

When our inner wealth contributes to our outer wealth, we are fulfilling our purpose, regardless of the status of our physical wealth. Our purpose is to impact the lives of others with love, faith, and God's guidance toward a productive life. It's important to remember that the most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or touched, such as love, joy, kindness, humility, empathy, and peace. These things are incredibly impactful.

Let us always remember that our true worth lies not in material possessions or societal status, but in the depth of our compassion and the sincerity of our actions. Let us strive to be vessels of love and beacons of hope in a world that often feels lost and in need of guidance. As we walk this path of faith and purpose, may we find solace in the knowledge that we are never alone, for God's love and grace are ever-present, guiding us toward a life filled with meaning and significance. Let us embrace the intangible treasures of the heart and share them generously with those around us, for in doing so, we truly fulfill our divine purpose on this earth.

Living a purposeful life involves two things: the will of God and the implementation of your faith in Christ. When you know that you are empowered to carry God with you wherever you go, you have the ability to conquer and achieve greatness in His glory. Christ came with this benefit: God living in us. Trusting Him in a son-and-father relationship through obedience, and living without fear but with power, love, and self-discipline, is the key to living a purposeful life.

Part 14: Achieving Success and Finding Purpose

When you align your will with God's will and walk in faith, you can navigate through life's challenges with confidence and grace. Remember that God has a plan for you, and by following His guidance, you can fulfill your purpose and make a positive impact on the world around you. Stay rooted in your faith, trust in His promises, and let His love light the path ahead. Embrace the journey with courage and determination, knowing that God is always by your side, leading you toward a purposeful and fulfilling life.

When you submit yourself to God through Jesus Christ, true love is deposited in you. This love transforms you from the inside out, including your mindset. The Holy Spirit cultivates and guides you towards the right path. Your desire to know Him increases, and your evil ways and fears gradually detach or collapse. You develop a strong passion for hearing His word, and reading the Bible becomes something you enjoy doing anytime. He guides you toward the right preaching, and your affinity toward righteousness increases. Ultimately, this reflects in your daily living. Your faith in Him strengthens, and you start doing good deeds without fear or failure. This faith can move mountains, and you walk over water with confidence. Even when tribulations come, this faith gives you peace. Don't forget, this transformational faith can only be grown every day by hearing Christ's gospel.

Persist in seeking Him with all your spirit, soul, and mind, and find true fulfillment and purpose in Him. Allow His love to radiate through you and illuminate those around you as you journey in faith. Rely on His grace and power and avoid leaning on your own understanding, for He will always be in you. Stay focused on Jesus, the initiator and completer of your faith, and let His grace guide you through every challenge and difficulty. Embrace this faith that transforms and let it shine as a source of hope and love in a world that craves it.

Part 15: God's Provision and Our True Purpose

God never intended us to transact with Him to obtain our desires, achieve our goals, or understand our purpose in life. Some believe that giving physical resources to God prompts His response, that tithing opens doors to prosperity, to good health, etc. However, this notion of transactional giving is not true; we should not give to God expecting something in return, as this mindset leads to disappointment. The Bible unequivocally states that God, through His Son Jesus Christ, has given us everything we need and He will continue to do so according to His divinity. He has blessed us with blessings and the power to manifest in the foundation of Christ and expects us to be productive, not mediocre or ignorant. Therefore, we must give out of abundance, not lack, and make our desires known to Him. He acts in His will because He is a loving Father, not a tyrant. His will for us is our vote, and He even manifests in ways more significant than we could have prayed or imagined. Trust, patience, hope, and faith are essential in revealing these blessings, because His blessings are given freely to those who believe and walk with Him, enabling them to find their purpose.

Some of the blessings you possess are free will, passions, gifts, talents, and strengths. These blessings can help you discover your purpose, but they can also be misused to serve selfish motives. Therefore, it is important to align them with who you are in Christ. Your responsibility is to work on yourself continuously to discover your blessings and to utilize them in a way that aligns with your true purpose. Remember that your blessings are unique to you and are meant to be shared with the world. By using them in service to others and in alignment with God's will, you can make a positive impact and fulfill your true purpose, for purpose is finding fulfillment and happiness.

Our observations have demonstrated that collaborating with Almighty God is a simple and effortless task, as it is a true reflection of His nature. It is through this collaboration that we can tap into the infinite wisdom and power of the divine, allowing us to manifest our true purpose and potential in this world. By aligning our thoughts, words, and actions with His divine will, we can create miracles and blessings beyond our wildest imagination. Let us continue to walk hand in hand with Him, knowing that we are always supported, guided, and loved in every moment of our existence.

Part 16: A Unique and Personal Journey

Each of us is on a unique and personal journey through life. We have been equipped differently by our maker to face the challenges of life in different seasons as well as achieving success. Therefore, we mustn't compare ourselves to others based on material or spiritual achievements. Such comparisons can lead to negative emotions such as anxiety, anger, pain, and hopelessness, ultimately causing us to lose focus on our purpose. Instead, we should focus on our own journey and find fulfillment in the unique path that has been set before us. By embracing our individuality, we can discover our true purpose and live a life that is fulfilling and meaningful.

Celebrating the successes of others is crucial for fostering positive relationships and personal growth. It's natural to feel envious or inadequate, but it's important to recognize these emotions and work towards overcoming them. By embracing the accomplishments of others, we can learn from their achievements and be inspired to reach our own goals. Remember, celebrating the successes of others is not only beneficial for them, but also for ourselves. We are all interconnected in this journey called life, and by supporting each other, we can create a more compassionate and understanding world. Let us embrace our differences and learn from one another, knowing that each of us has a valuable contribution to make. Together, we can navigate the ups and downs of life with grace and resilience, knowing that we are all on our own unique path toward growth and self-discovery.

We are only required to focus and grow better every day. By keeping this in mind, we can navigate life's highs and lows with grace and poise. It is this kind of mentality that is key to achieving success in both personal and professional endeavors. Remember, success is not just about reaching a destination but also about the journey itself.

Part 17: Overcoming Negative Influences

The attainment of success is not necessarily impeded by one's sins committed; rather, it is contingent upon God's divine timing and His will or may require an enhancement of one's approach toward certain goals. One's past mistakes do not define their future potential for success. It is through humility, perseverance, and a willingness to learn from one's errors that true growth and achievement can be realized. Trust in God's plan and continue to strive toward your goals with faith and determination.

Remember, every setback is an opportunity for a comeback. Embrace challenges as stepping stones towards your ultimate destination. Stay focused, stay positive, and never lose sight of the incredible potential that lies within you. Keep moving forward with courage and conviction, knowing that your past does not dictate your future. Believe in yourself and the endless possibilities that await you to unveil on your journey to success. Trust in the process and keep pushing toward your dreams with unwavering determination.

We have all we need; God has provided everything according to His will. We are called to manifest in faith. He performs miracles in ways beyond our understanding, being all-powerful, all-knowing, and all-loving. This is why people practice affirmations, declaring what they already possess rather than focusing on lack; you affirm from a point of abundance, not expecting. Manifestation involves three steps: first, a thought fetched from your spirit; second, a spoken word, you speak as truth; and finally, an action. Faith does not function with doubt, disbelief, fear, or negative thoughts. Faith thrives in an environment of positivity, trust, and unwavering belief. It is like a seed that grows into a mighty tree when nurtured with hope and confidence. Doubt and fear only serve to stunt its growth and weaken its foundation. To truly harness the power of faith, one must banish all negativity and embrace a mindset of certainty and optimism. Only then can the miracles of faith manifest in our lives, guiding us toward our true purpose and destiny.

Part 18: The Joy in Doing What You Love

Do what you love, what pleases you, what speaks to you, and by doing so, you will live purposefully. Remember, you have the right to enjoy life regardless of material possessions, so seek joy. Seek out experiences that bring you happiness and fulfillment, surround yourself with people who uplift and inspire you, and always follow your heart. Life is too short to waste on things that do not bring you joy. Embrace the things that make your soul sing and live each day to the fullest. Remember, your happiness is worth pursuing, so go out there and seek joy in all that you do.

The purpose is often disrupted or destroyed by various factors, with worry being considered one of the most destructive activities of the mind, second only to hate. Worry can consume our thoughts, cloud our judgment, and prevent us from focusing on what truly matters. It can lead us down a path of anxiety and fear, hindering our ability to pursue our goals and fulfill our potential. In order to protect our purpose from being derailed by worry, we must learn to manage our thoughts and emotions effectively, and cultivate a mindset of resilience and positivity.

Hatred is most detrimental; it is a severely mental condition, and its effects are irreversible. Hatred consumes the mind, poisoning every thought and emotion, and even poisons the body. It festers and grows, twisting reality and distorting perceptions. The damage it inflicts on the soul is deep and lasting, leaving scars that may never fully heal. In the end, the one consumed by hatred loses more than they could ever hope to gain, ultimately causing them to stray from their purpose.

Our own negative thoughts and concepts can be incredibly destructive. We kill our dreams, our purposes, and even ourselves with our own words, and words are from negative thoughts/concepts. They destroy our will to live, they destroy our focus. These words have the power to crush our dreams, our sense of purpose, and even our own self-esteem. In fact, they can be so harmful that they rob us of the will to live and focus on the things that truly matter. Therefore, it is crucial that we acknowledge the impact of our words and strive to remove negativity from our thoughts and vocabulary. Only then can we truly prosper and reach our goals. Examples of such statements include "I am sick and tired of my life," "I am not worthy of living," "My life is always a mess," "I am a loser," "God is punishing me," "I will die like a dog," "My life is pain," "I was created to suffer," "I am useless," "I am poor," "I am always helpless," etc. All of these attract their counterparts—diseases, accidents, missed opportunities, lack, etc.

Let us instead choose words of empowerment, positivity, and abundance. Let us believe in Christ's abundance, our worth, our strength, and our ability to overcome any challenge. Let us declare, "I am capable of achieving my dreams," "I am deserving of love and happiness," "I attract success and prosperity," "I am grateful for all the blessings in my life," "I am a winner," "I am loved and supported by the universe," "I am healthy and strong," "I am a beacon of light and hope," "I am a powerful creator of my reality," "I am abundant in all areas of my life," "I am surrounded by love and abundance," etc. These words will manifest a reality filled with joy, fulfillment, and endless possibilities. Let us choose our words wisely and create a life of positivity and abundance.

Part 19: Eliminating Worry and Negative Emotions

Worry, hate, fear, impatience, anxiety, bitterness, uncontrolled anger, unkindness, judgment, and condemnation—all these attacks even your body at the cellular level.

Another one is fear, which opposes your mental and physical well-being, contradicting your true self. Fear can be a powerful force, holding you back from reaching your full potential and keeping you trapped in a cycle of doubt and insecurity. It distorts your perception of reality, making you believe that danger lurks around every corner, even when there is none.

Overcoming fear is a crucial step toward aligning yourself with your true self and living a life of authenticity and fulfillment.

As human beings, it is essential to understand that God cannot be compared to any human being in any way. He is a divine entity, and our capacity to fully understand Him is limited. Our understanding of God can only be gradual, as we learn more about what He wants through the Holy Spirit. It is crucial to acknowledge that we cannot put God in a box and presume that we always know what He thinks. Our understanding of God is like digging a big hole near an ocean and expecting the entire ocean to fit inside it—it is impossible to constrain Him to fit our perceptions of Him. Our part is to allow Him to know Him at His pace, and that is enough for a productive life here on earth.

We should approach our relationship with God with humility and open hearts, willing to learn and grow in our understanding of Him. Just as a child learns and grows in knowledge over time, so too must we approach our understanding of God with a sense of wonder and awe. Let us not limit God to our own limited perspectives, but instead, let us embrace the mystery and majesty of His divine nature.

In doing so, we can experience a deeper and more fulfilling relationship with Him, allowing His love and grace to guide us on our journey through life. His revelation to each of us does not contradict; it remains consistent and unwavering.

Verses for Reference

- Genesis 1:26-38
- 1 Timothy 2:4
- James 1:15
- Revelation 22:12-13
- Romans 1:18-23
- 1 John 4:8
- Jeremiah 1:5
- Isaiah 49:1
- Galatians 1:15
- Ephesians 1:11
- Romans 5:8-11
- Ephesians 1:3-6
- 2 Timothy 1:7
- Galatians 3:26
- 1 John 3:6
- 1 John 4:9
- John 3:16
- Romans 10:17
- Matthew 17:20
- Romans 12:2
- 2 Timothy 1:7
- Galatians 5:22
- Acts 10:34-43
- Galatians 3:22
- Galatians 4:7
- Matthew 22:34-40
- Psalms 127:2
- 2 Peter 1:3-5
- John 14:12
- Matthew 17:20
- Isaiah 45:2-3